

This is the Foundation Combined version — Higher Tier and Separate-only content removed.

Genetic engineering inserts genes from one organism into another, allowing production of proteins not normally made.