

This is the Foundation Separate version — Higher Tier content has been removed.

Genetic engineering inserts genes from one organism into another, allowing production of proteins not normally made.